

Boroughbridge Community Library: help for adults who struggle with reading

If there is demand, we'd like to provide opportunities at the library to help adults who cannot read or who struggle with their reading. If you know anyone who might benefit from such help (which would be free of charge), please contact Ros Helliwell cynthiaroshelliwell43@gmail.com, in confidence, to talk about a way forward for the formation of a reading group at the library or individual reading practice. It might also suit people whose first language is not English
